Fels-Naptha Soap is an all-the-year soap. It is the every-kind-of-cleaning soap, too.

Anty Drudge Gives the Doctor Good Advice

Dector-"Anty Drudge, a patient of mine told me that you knew a cure for tired-out women. I wish you'd tell me what it is."

Anty Drudge-"It's something you wouldn't recommend, I'm afraid. If you'd tell all your women patients to use Fels-Naptha Soap for their housecleaning and washing, you wouldn't have so much to do. You can use Fels-Naptha Soap the year round as a prescription for overworked women."

There is nothing that won't look better if washed with Fels-Naptha Soap. Every woman who uses it feels better and has more time for pleasure. It is the Soap that works in cool or lukewarm water, that dissolves the dirt, instead of leaving it for you to rub out; that makes your clothes look snowy white without boiling them to pieces; that saves your back, your hands, your time.

It makes it possible for you to do your washing in half the time and with half the bother. It takes the dirt and grease off your dishes and makes your glass and silver shine.

It is intimated that the Interstate Commeron may cease taking testimony in the New Haven inquiry, because the Mellen evidence s sufficient to justify the demand for legislation empowering the commission to supervise railroad extensions and financial operations.

Mellen's extraordinary testimony of railroad lundering emphasized the necessity of governnental control of railroad securities and extenions, but was merely supplementary to evidence that fully justified it. Come what may, 1000 United States citizens will remain of their own accord in Mexico City. Every opportunity, facility and protection have been afforded them to leave the trouble spot, but their own necessities or inclination detain them, at the risk of their lives and property.

But it is regrettable that American citizens should deliberately court us citizens which Thomas Jefferson described: Every society has a right to fix the fundamental principles of its association, and to say to all individuals, that, if they contemplate pursuits beyond the limits of these principles, and involving dangers which the society choose to avoid, they must go somewhere else for their exercise; that we want no citizens, and still less ephemeral and pseudo-citizens, on such terms. We may exclude them from our territory, as we do persons infected with disease. We have most abundant resources of happiness within ourselves, which we may enjoy in peace and safety without permitting a few citizens, infected with the mania of rambling and gambling, to bring danger on the great mass engaged in innocent and safe pursuits at home. Undoubtedly there is equity and fairness in his view, though not international policy. We shall, if necessary, punish wanton injuries to American citizens in Mexico City for the sake of the whole and the safety of the American citizen in every part of the world.

THE AMERICAN DOWNFALL IN GOLF. Vardon and Ray are avenged. The American

Evans did the best of our men. He won three good matches, and then a little-known Scotchman named MacFarlane turned loose against him a spurt of the finest golf ever seen in an amateur championship anywhere. He did the first nine holes in 31, which has never been equaled at Sandwich by either amateur or professional and against which any player in existence would have been helpless.

It is some consolation to Americans that the British cracks also fell fast. WAR OF THE KIPLING REBELLION.

With the passage of the home rule bill and the overriding of the upper house's suspensory veto ly there are 50,000 fans in St. Louis who would set for the last of May, Mr. Kipling issued in protest one of the most venomous verbal attacks in which he ever combined the elements of the English language. Confronting rebellion by Ulster and rebellion in still more hideous form by Kipling, the dismayed Government faltered. Then the London Chronicle took up the dragon-fighting role of St. George.

Its preparatory remark was to the effect that the oad laid on a man of genius when he becomes, like Tolstoi, as a little child, can but dimly be appreciated by others. The "Progressive Exponent" is entered in the trouble for themselves, and their country, in such postoffice as second-class matter. But some firstcircumstances. They recall certain other danger-class matter is contained in the May number. We refer especially to the report of Judge Norohi's speech at the recent State Committee meet. ing and the Judge's thundering peroration: We must ultimately prevail, because we are right, and right will prevail. We are going on with the fight, under the old fiag. Being sure you are right, there is nothing to to but go ahead and prevail no matter what the ifficulties. There are usually struggles for things that are pre-eminently right. Wrong has easier sailing. On the same page with the Judge's peroration we find this thumping reminder from the secretary of the local Bull Moose organiza

Quite a number of members of the club are behind in the payment of their monthly pledges. While we appreciate your signature and pledge, it is only the real money that counts.

The officers of the club have no disposition to dun anybody, but they do wish to remind all members that there are some necessary expenses to pay and slowness in remittan of dues is apt to cripple the club's activity. Although right will ultimately prevail of its own vigor the remoteness of the ultimate is some times governed by sordid conditions. Adventitious aids are a great help even to the right. A Bull Moose must be fed on the same provender that makes the mare go, or die of starvation like the local elephant whose under-

SAMSON.

B.—The height and weight of Samson are not given in the Bible, the Bible writers never dreaming that you would ask. Neither the Bible not the Jewish Encyclopedia gives his age. In the mention of his burial the Scripture says he judged Israel for 20 years. The Rabbinical writings say: His shoulders were 60 elistroad. He was lame in both feet, but when the spirit of God came upon him he could step with one stride from Zoreah to Eshtaol, while the hairs of his head arose and clashed against one another so that they could be heard for a like distance. He could lift two mountains and rub them together. When he was thirsty a well of water sprang from his teeth. Dr. Paul Carus thinks Samson corresponds in Jewish mythology to Hercules, the Greek god of strangth. The 12 labors of Heracles is the echo of an ancient sclar epic which gioriffe.

Kulage's Park the score was, Delmar 7, Bryan Hill 4.

The Marquette team won because of one big inning in which five hits were bunched with three errors by the Garfield players. This rally netted six runs, Pitcher Raford Knight of the Garfield ream, aside from this one bad inning, pitched as well as John Brocksmith, the Marquette twirler.

Each side made 11 hits and although Knight struck out 10 batters as against three strikeouts by Brocksmith, he received ragged support. The Marquette boys also took more liberties on the bases, stealing sacks on Catcher Thompson. The Garfield boys stole bases.

Game for the Delmar School's Team G ODFREY WEIDLICH, pitcher of the Delmar School, proved the entry over the semi-final round. His pitching was the pivot around which the Delmar built their hopes and his faultless play and superb sharpshooting held the Northerners well in leash. Weidlich and Braiser formed the best looking battery, and the margin in favor of them over their adversaries gave the winners the necessary advantage. Bryan Hill wis enabled to gather but three hits off Weidlich, who had already defeated Benton and Shaw schools in the University City aggregations triumphal tour through the Post-Dispatch League race. Further, he manufactured four safeties himself, three of which helped in the rungetting. He fanned nine men. He tallied twice, stole thrice and figured in seven plays on the defense. "We shall go immediately on our ar-rival in America to Piping Rock where our ponies already have arrived in good shape. We shall practice there and it our team plays well together we may have a surprise in store for Meadow-brook. At any rate I feel greatly en-couraged over our prospects."

Other members of the team agreed with Baron Wimborne's estimate of the chances of the British four, but they did not regard as excessive the odds of 3 to 1 on the American combination.

The protest will be based on the result of the relay race, the McKinley coaches claiming that Dover. Soldan's fourth runner, ran off the track for several yards, therefore giving him an advantage over Epp, his opponent. Dr. Edmunds, who was starter and also judge at that turn, claimed that Dover did overstep the line, but it was purely accidental. Dr. F. H. W. Eb. Here's the "Dope."

THE reasons for the present lowly rating of the Red Sox are as folter be left over until Monday for dis-

Previous to the event, the scorer in the senior meet was Soldan 40%, Mc-Kinley, 40; both teams having fought for the leadership througheut the day. Victory hinged on the final event. Haus, a starting for Soldan, took several feet from his man and sent Sicher, the second gold and brown runner, off to a good lead. The latter maintained his lead, but Balley, the third man, lost ground to Snyder, of McKinley. Dover and Epp started the last quarter with the McKinley boy leading. Dover on rounding the turn pulled abreast of his opponent, but on the next turn stepped on the turf. He easily outsprinted Epp at the finish and won by some ly yards.

At a meeting between the two coaches, after the meet, the foul was discussed. Coach Castleman said that he saw no reason why he should not protest, if it would give his boys the meet for which they worked so hard. The fault was, although accidental, illegal and there fore he would file a protest.

Coach Collins was of a different opinion. He claimed that it was impossible to call all the fouls on high school

G ENTLEMEN who detest favorites in any old sort of a contest, particularly in baseball pennant races, are casting their eyes about for long shots on which to hang a forlorn hope.

So far none of dopesters has become interested in the outlook of the Boston Red Sox, who, not so many months ago, were battling for and winning a world's series. In fact, the writer knows of one bet made in which an enthusiast has wagered that the Browns will beat out the not-so-long-since champions.

A LL things considered, he was SOME optimist who figured Rickey's men to outdo the Red Sox on the season's work. Piping the situation from a Red Sox angle, there's a long chance that this club, given its share of the breaks in regard to its hospital list, ought to be giving Connie Mack's team heart disease later in the season.

And there are some very fawncy odds now posted against the Red Sox pennant outlook. WILL BE A POWERFUL FACTOR IN THE LATE PENNANT FIGHT. This becomes more and more convincing when the futile pitching of the Philadelphia staff, with the exception of Plank, is observed. Bender is coming round, but the youngsters of last year have shown no disposition to improve. Jack Coombs is so weak from two seasons of illness that it's folly to hope for anything from him.

Compared to the Boston club's pitching staff (should fortune favor it as the owners have a reasonable right to expect) the Athletics' will be ordinary. Joe Wood, at his best, is better than either Plank or Bender. Ray Collins is a formidable southpaw, when right, and Bedient is better than the average Athletic filinger.

Here's the "Dope."

Foster, his team-mate, has allowed but il runs in 52 innings, which is a far better average than the best flinger on the St. Louis pitchers are considered strong; but then Leonard's record looks incomparable. as Ray Caldwell of the New York Yar kees; yet he is outclassed in pitching performance, according to the figures showing that victory doesn't always perch on the most deserving banner at times.

perch on the most deserving banner at times.

In practically the same number of innings pitched, 18 more hits were made off James than Caldwell and 15 more runs; Caldwell hit no batsmen and made but one wild pitch, while James punctured two hitters and his heaves were four times too wide for the catcher to handle. He also gave 14 more bases on balls than Caldwell.

James' figures indicate that the hitting support he received from the Browns played a big part in his winning.

Let Joe Wood get his stride, the rest of the staff do its average of performances according to past records and Connie Mack's slumber will be shaken, in September.

had been decided to try Mr. Jan on what was vaguely known as "charges" first and dance afterward, and there was a perfect crush at the Jarr apartments.

Mrs. Jarr had bought four new dance were up, paper flags ornamented the place, and all in all it w.s a very gala occasion, indeed.

Miss Irone Cackleberry had come to dance with her flance, Capt. Herbert Tennefoyle; old Mr. Smith had new tips on his dancing crutches, Clara Mud-ridge-Smith had a new tango dress, Mrs. Stryver had a hastily remodeled one, she explained to any lady of her acquaintance, and that she, Mrs. Jarr, had "been so rushed" in the preparations for the courtmartial tango that she positively had had no time to go to her modiste's.

Capt. Herbert Tynne le wore his dress uniform and all his medals, in-cluding the one awarded him for sitting cluding the one awarded him for sitting up late. In short, beauty and chivalry were all or dit, as Mrs. Stryver gushingly told Mrs. Jarr.

Mrs. Mudridge-Smith as of the opinion that the night marked an epoch. After this, Clara Azidridge-Smith said, actingy husbands might be courtmartialed, as well as wicked ones.

But Mrs. Jarr. said that bad as Mr. Jarr might be, he had never been stingy. He glways brought his salary home intact. Of course, it was such a small salary that it might seem Mr. Jarr WAS atlings when he handed it over to his wife but if so that was not Mr. Jarr's fault, now was it? ault. now was it?

Pa's Diary

By Hazen Conklin.

Pa "Blows Up" and "Ain't Calmed Yet!"

FEEL as though every word I write down in this diary tonight was going to change its letters into dollar after dinner is that new summer estate of ours, next the Carrington Bruces, and every time she mentions it it's to tell me of somethin' new she's thought of that can't be did without, and which means I've got to sign another check.

When I paid that real estate agent 500,000 for it he said as how I likely wouldn't have to pay out another penny, the place bein' all furnished and plenty good enough to occupy just as it was.

But he reckoned without ma's ideas of what is fit and what ain't. Even when she asked me for $40,000 more to put new furniture and stuff in the house, the old bein' in "bad taste," I didn't dream what more was comin'. And I guess the end ain't yet.

Tonight she springs some more pleas-ant check-book surprise on me. There's a feller who decorates people's insides, if they're rich, and ma got him to go down to our place and decide just what had to be done. He was to report to-day. And he done is all right.

"Mr. Pilkington says that if we refurnish we ought to redecorate," says ma, startin' in to tell me about it. "He says the new furnishings will make the old decoration scheme look dingy and out of keeping. He says that there's about $25,000 worth of work that simply must be done there. And Mr. Pilkingcouldn't find plenty to be done," I says, "but he's figurin' on usin' some mighty extrfavagant wall paper. That time you and I papered our house in Dob-binsville, and done all the work ourselves, we done six rooms for $10, and there wasn't none of the paper over 16 cents a roll, and that was what we pu! in the parlor. The kitchen was 10 cents
